

Centenary of Armistice Day Commemoration

The College will be conducting a special commemoration ceremony to mark the centenary of Armistice Day on Tuesday 13 November 2018 commencing at 8.40 am.

As part of the commemoration, all relatives of staff and students who have served their country in World War I (not necessarily for Australia) will have their names acknowledged. If you would like a relative's name to be included in the acknowledgement and have as yet not forwarded this information for our ANZAC Names Register, please complete the details below and forward them to me by email at stanizzof01@dow.catholic.edu.au by Monday 5 November 2018. Alternatively, you may contact me by telephone at the College.

As part of this special commemoration I am also hoping to complete a picture collage of as many of our relatives as possible who may have served their countries in war. The picture collage will be published in our newsletter and our Yearbook as well as being made available to parents in digital form on request. If you would be interested in having a photo of your relative published in the picture collage please send a digital image of your relative in uniform to my email address above by Monday 5 November 2018.
